Bremen Chamber Joins Local Business Leader in Small Business Incubator Plan

Just as the unemployment numbers continue to skyrocket locally and the recession achieves an even greater grip on our economy one local business leader wants to take some action. Joe Martin, Sr. of J & J Rental Company has stepped up to offer his own stimulus package, free or reduced commercial real estate space for use by small business owners. The following statement was made by Mr. Martin;

“Joe Martin owner of J & J Rental Co., located in Bremen and Plymouth would like to offer warehouse space rent-free as part of an initiative to jump-start fledging business in the Michiana area.”

His contributions to growing companies – free rent, or reduced rent. Details will be worked on individual basis.

“One of the key areas of focus for us going forward is going to be supporting entrepreneurs, making space available at little or no cost permits these businesses to grow without the burden of high overhead.”

“With the downturn in the RV business we have many people un-employed; we are looking for people who will create jobs to turn our economy around with jobs.”

The Bremen Chamber of Commerce has joined J & J Rental in an effort to have this be the foundation for the formation of a local business incubator that would nurture the development of entrepreneurial companies in Bremen. The Chamber wants to leverage local professionals to provide assistance to start up companies seeking business support services.
